firmas. The original Bausch & Lomb design is now commercially marketed as Ray-Ban; however, although other manufacturers also produce eyeglasses, the original design is still used as a reference point in the industry. This design is also known as the "pilot" design, as it was originally developed for military pilots. The design features a pair of round lenses set in a metal frame with a bridge over the nose and temples that curve back over the ears. The design is simple and functional, and it has become a classic style for many people.
